You Might Be A Jaguar Owner If ...

- 1) You've ever taken a nap on the floor of the garage next to your Jag.
- 2) You've ever said to a judge at a car show or concours: "Hell yes!, it's supposed to look like that!"
- 3) You know what Waxoyl tastes like.
- 4) You've ever reheated your tea with a soldering iron.
- 5) You have a cotter key in at least one pocket of every pair of pants you own.
- 6) You have at least one grease stain on every pair as well.
- 7) You've ever used a wire tie as a toothpick.
- 8) You know who William Walmsley is.
- 9) You've ever worked a 14-hour day in the office and then spent 8 hours in the garage installing a kinniplier pin when you got home.
- 10) You know the term Leaper does not necessarily describe someone getting ready to jump off a bridge.
- 11) You have a larger collection and variety of drip pans than your local parts store.
- 12) Your favourite colour is BRG.
- 13) You know more about what your fellow WMJR club members are doing this weekend than your own children.
- 14) You're first thought is not BEER! when someone mentions GROWLER.

The Jaguar Mark VII... a car with a pleasantly schizoid personality

As seen here, the MARK VII sedan is admirably filling the role of a town car in the grand manner—but this week end, while the chauffeur frets at home, the owner himself will drive it about the countryside in unmatched style, safety, and comfort. As unusual as it is to find a motor car that so successfully combines the dignity of a limousine with the dash of a sports car—you will note that the split personality of the JAGUAR MARK VII extends to performance as well. For while it handles like a lamb, it commands the road like . . . a JAGUAR, the finest car of its class in the world. Equipped with automatic transmission—priced approximately $4,500.

British Humour Section

The response to this section in the January issue has been, well, nothing at all.

Taking this as lack of diapproval, here's more to help fill another un-newsworthy issue.

At an antiques auction in Leeds, England a wealthy American announced that he had lost his wallet containing £5,000, and he would give a reward of £50 to the person who found it. From the back of the hall a Yorkshire voice shouted, "I'll give £100!"

---

Last year a Brit replaced all the windows in his house with expensive case-ment types with shutters. In due course he got a call from the contractor who installed them, complaining that the work had been completed a whole year ago and he still hadn't been paid for them.

Now just because the Brit had light hair didn't mean that he is necessarily stupid. So, he I told the contractor just what his fast talking sales guy had told him the year before, that in ONE YEAR these windows would pay for themselves!

Hellloo? It's been a year! He told the contractor. There was only silence at the other end of the line. The contractor never called back.

There was a competition to cross the English Channel doing only the breaststroke, and the three women who entered the race were named Emily, Maggie and Rose.

After approximately 14 hours, Emily staggered up on the shore and was declared the fastest. About 40 minutes later, Maggie crawled up on the shore and was declared the second place finisher.

Nearly 4 hours after that, Rose finally came ashore and promptly collapsed in front of the worried onlookers.

When the reporters asked why it took her so long to complete the race, she replied, 'I don't want to sound like I'm a sore loser, but I think those two other girls were using their arms.'
